Culture and Development Office

Who We Are

The Peace Campus is an iconic and innovative civic space designed to promote peace-building initiatives, provide opportunities for collaboration, and offer a variety of facilities, services and amenities to foster cross-community engagement.

What We Offer

The Campus offers a range of chargeable, bespoke hire spaces, such as meeting rooms, office spaces, and multipurpose bookable areas, cultural and youth services as well and a performance stage and café area, all designed to meet the needs of diverse communities, individuals, and organisations who share the values of peace, sustainability, and collaboration.

Our Goals

The aim is to establish the Peace Campus as a central hub for communities, peace partnership development, offer cultural activities, and provide a place for people to meet together, collaborate, and engage in positive change and expression.

Working With Us

Peace partnerships are at the heart of everything we do and offer. When it comes to creative collaboration and partnerships, we support as well as develop and facilitate co-funding and research projects, peace programmes, knowledge sharing, talks, events, conferences, workshops, symposia, training, cultural activities and more. We offer support, connection, innovation and alliance building, as we network to extend the message of peace.

Get in touch with us to discover how we can work together.

We look forward to hearing from you.
